

Three International Awards for Webcom

Toronto – January 2010 – Webcom Inc. was a triple winner at this year's 35th International Gallery Competition. The International Association of Printing House Craftsmen (IAPHC) selected Webcom as winners of one Gold Award and two Silver Awards. The IAPHC is a global competition, receiving entries from countries such as Australia, Brazil, China, Singapore and Russia, along with hundreds of other entrants from around North America. Receiving these three prestigious industry awards by the International Gallery is a great honour for the Webcom team.

Webcom received a Gold Award for World History Since 1500: The Age of Global Integration, a textbook published by Wadsworth Cengage Learning. The manufacture of the book was first-rate and the end product was polished. The textbook had a number of notable elements including, a 4-page foldout map perforated at the spine and 3 additional 4-page colour inserts.

The IAPHC judges awarded Webcom Silver for Superb Craftsmanship in the production of Cleveland Community College's Academic Bulletin & Student Handbook 2009-2010. Navy linen covers were ordered specifically for this book and special silver ink was used on the inside front cover. This soft bound title also featured silver foil stamping on both front and back covers, making for an exceptionally luxurious look and feel when coupled with the textured cover.

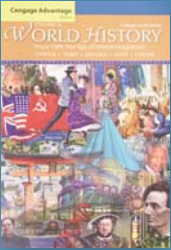

Webcom was also awarded Silver for the production of the University of Alaska Fairbanks Catalog 2009-2010. This project was a special one for Webcom given the distance from the customer. Even with over 3,000 miles between publisher and printer, our teams' joint efforts in providing superior customer service, maintaining regular communication and adhering to a thorough plan resulted in an award winning catalog.

The IAPHC awards celebrate outstanding achievement in the art and science of printing and graphics arts and are recognized globally as one of the industry's highest honours.
